

Dear Author,

Congratulations on the publication of your book! We are so very excited for you and appreciate the great effort that this work represents. Thank you for wanting to share it with us.

We will make every effort to examine your book and evaluate its potential for selling in our store as soon as possible. Please be aware, however, that we usually have a large number of books to consider and may not be able to examine your book as quickly as you would like. We ask you to please be gracious with your understanding of our time.

A few things to consider before submitting your book:

- It should be professionally proofed, edited, designed and published.
- It should have a spine with the title and author on it.
- It should be priced comparable to others of its type.
- It should be appropriate for our store. For example, it should not be in a genre that we do not stock or promote.
- We recommend IngramSpark as a publisher
- We waive our stocking fee for books available at Ingram or Baker & Taylor that are returnable and priced at regular discount.
- It should not be published through Amazon/ CreateSpace.
- We take self-published or self-promoted books only on a consignment basis and charge a $25 stocking fee. We do not pay shipping for consignment titles. If we stock your book, we will pay you 60% of the retail price for any copies that we sell. We review the status of consignment titles twice a year. If a title has not sold well we request that the author pick up unsold copies at that time. Copies that are not picked up are donated to the Parent Teachers Association or the libraries.

If we stock your book, we ask that your promotional materials direct customers to The Country Bookshop. We also ask that your website directs orders to our store at www.thecountrybookshop.biz and/or to www.indiebound.com, the independent bookstores' national online site.

If, after reading this, you would like us to consider your book please review the following documents and resources. Should you meet the requirements please email submissions.thecountrybookshop@gmail.com. Your email should include contact information for the author and publisher and information about the book. It is important we receive the request via email and can evaluate the request on our own schedule. Thanks for understanding we cannot handle phone calls or drop-in visits. Unsolicited samples dropped off or mailed will be recycled.

-Your Friends at The Country Bookshop